

POWERSOFT RENEWS ITS LONG-TERM TECHNOLOGY PARTNERSHIP WITH BOSE PROFESSIONAL, SUPPORTING MORE FLEXIBLE, SCALABLE SOLUTIONS FOR PROFESSIONAL AV CUSTOMERS

THE COLLABORATION WITH BOSE PROFESSIONAL CONFIRMS TRUST IN THE GROUP, ENHANCES THE RELIABILITY OF ITS INNOVATIVE TECHNOLOGIES, AND CONSOLIDATES POWERSOFT'S GROWTH PATH

Scandicci (Florence), March 31, 2026 – Powersoft S.p.A. (“Powersoft”), parent company of a global technology group active in professional audio amplification systems, signal processing, and transducer systems, and listed on Euronext Growth Milan, announces the signing of a new multi-year technology partnership agreement with Bose Professional.

The deal strengthens a long-term strategic relationship and reinforces the Company’s positioning as a technology partner for major global players in the professional audio sector, while directly supporting Bose Professional’s customers by strengthening the continuity of the technologies in their installed audio systems.

Under the renewed collaboration, Bose Professional will continue to market the four-channel PowerShareX amplifier series, including the PSX1204D, PSX2404D, and PSX4804D models. These products benefit from high energy efficiency, precise audio signal control, and significant power density in compact form factors, thereby contributing to optimized energy consumption and reduced environmental impact of installed systems, while simplifying deployment and ensuring seamless functionality within the Bose Professional ControlSpace eco-system, which integrates amplifiers, processors, and loudspeakers under one unified software platform.

The solutions developed by Powersoft fit perfectly within the context of permanent audio system installations in commercial and entertainment venues, such as corporate spaces, hotels, retail outlets and restaurants, educational environments and government facilities, as well as theaters and performing arts centers, places of worship, and sports and fitness centers. In these contexts, the reliability, scalability, and energy efficiency of amplification platforms represent key elements for ensuring high-quality sound performance and simplified management of integrated audio infrastructures.

The renewal of the agreement further reinforces recognition of Powersoft’s technological and innovative capabilities in delivering reliable and scalable solutions that help partners build more efficient, predictable, and sustainable AV systems.

Matt Calhoun, Chief Operating Officer at Bose Professional, commented: “Powersoft has been an exceptional engineering partner, and together we’ve created an amplifier platform that truly reflects the performance and reliability our customers expect. The PowerShareX line is the result of deep technical collaboration—combining Powersoft’s amplification expertise with our commitment to seamless integrations with the ControlSpace ecosystem. This partnership enables us to continue delivering powerful, efficient, and highly integrated solutions that help our AV customers design better, more efficient systems with greater confidence”.

Luca Lastrucci, CEO of Powersoft, stated: “The renewal of our collaboration with Bose Professional represents an important signal for the market and for our investors. It demonstrates the strength of our technological model and the confidence that strategic partners continue to place in the Company. Agreements of this kind help enhance revenue visibility in the medium term, strengthen our international presence, and support the Group’s sustainable growth trajectory”.

The press release is available on the company’s website www.powersoft.com.

ABOUT POWERSOFT:

Powersoft S.p.A. was established in 1995 by two brothers, Luca and Claudio Lastrucci, and Antonio Peruch, is headquartered in Scandicci/Florence, and is a global technology leader in audio amplification systems, signal processing and transducer systems for the pro-Audio sector. The Group primarily focuses on providing lightweight power amplifiers known for their high efficiency and exceptional audio quality to customers both domestically and globally.
